DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-16, 21, drawn to an adenovirus vector having an adenovirus gene under control of a minimal promoter and hypoxia responsive element (HRE).

Group II, claim(s) 17-20, 22, 23, drawn to a method of using the adenovirus vector of group I to inhibit tumor growth or confer selective toxicity on a cell.

Group III, claim(s) 24-36, drawn to a method for inhibiting growth of a target tissue by administering two adenovirus vectors to an hypoxic cell, wherein one of the adenovirus vectors is replication deficient.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature shared by Groups I and II is an adenovirus vector having at least one adenoviral gene under transcriptional control of an HRE. However, this technical feature is not a special technical feature because it was known in the prior art. See Van Meir et al., WO 02/26192; Yu et al., US 2001/0053352 ; and Hernandez-Alcoceba et al. (Hum. Gene Ther. 13: 1737-1750, 2002). Consequently, unity of invention is lacking between Groups I and II.

Art Unit: 1633

Group III is a method of using two adenovirus vectors to inhibit growth of hypoxic cells, neither of which is required to be the adenovirus of Group I (see claim 22, for example). Adenovirus vectors do not constitute a special technical feature, and using adenoviruses to inhibit growth of hypoxic cells such as in tumors was also known in the art (see Van Meir, for example). Consequently, Group III shares no special technical feature with either of groups I or II.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
